

When you first log into the Collections MAX you will see the login box. You will need your login credentials from the administrator of the Collections MAX system you are trying to access. Below is an overview of the controls associated with the login screen.

Please note that the below server, user name and password shown are for example only.

You would then click the Login button after entering your login information.

Collections MAX Update Utility and System Tools

Server:

User Name:

Password:

LOGIN

EXIT